The food has been consistently good. This evaluation is based on extensive experience in both the Merchant Marine and the U. S. Navy.

Due to circumstances beyond my control, I was unable to participate in the closing portion of the course. This I regret very much. However, I do want to go on record that the Operations Familiarization Course is of decided value and merit for career employees. It is thoroughly interesting. The program is keyed to make the student physically comfortable and intellectually uncomfortable. The course pressure is excellent conditioning for field operating situations.

The faculty displayed an unusually high level of competence. Their ability to blend the theories of tradeecraft with the background of hard practical field experience was stimulating and completely effective. I was impressed with the evident ability of the Planning Officer in directing the OFC. His teaching, organizational and administrative abilities were outstanding.
